Ka mihi nui āhau ki a koutou
katoa,

I was driving home from school and heard the words of Bob Gass during 'The word for the day' section presented on radio Rhema. His words were wise and helpful...

'In all labour there is profit.'

The ant never sees work as menial or beneath his dignity. Whether it's moving dirt or carrying bread-crumbs, he merrily goes along doing his job. How unlike that are many people today! Someone has quipped, 'If you want to keep your teenagers out of hot water, put some dirty dishes in it!'... The sum of the matter is found in this simple proverb: 'In all labour there is profit.' Teach your children the old-fashioned way of getting money—working for it!

The word 'vocation' comes from the Latin word vocare, which means 'to call'...Dr Martin Luther King Jr rightly declared, 'Not all men are called to specialised or professional jobs; even fewer to the heights of genius in the arts and sciences; many are called to be labourers in factories, fields, and streets. But no work is insignificant.' As a parent you are preparing your child for their work life, so prepare them well. If you don't, they'll have a life of grief, and create a life of grief for others. Bosses don't pay workers who don't work. So before you give your child an allowance, give them some chores like making their bed, cleaning their room, helping around the house, taking out the rubbish, getting good grades in school, and doing their homework on time. Reward without responsibility is indulgence. And if you love your child you won't do that!

Aroha-tino-nui,

Michelle Cameron

HAPPENINGS

DAN THE PUPPET MAN

Last Friday our Bible in School teachers arranged for 'Dan the Puppet Man' to visit. With his puppet friend he shared with our students the importance of showing kindness and choosing to forgive.

Forgiving ourselves and forgiving others with no strings attached is an action of LOVE.

All of our students from Year 1 to Year 8 enjoyed his unique way of teaching a powerful life lesson.

YOUNG WRITERS SHARE THEIR OBSERVATIONS

THE TREE - by Room 9

The moss covers the tree trunk like an old man's beard.

The twig wiggles in the Winter wind.

The twigs point at me like fingers wagging 'No! No! No!'

The flower dresses up the tree to make it beautiful.

The bud opens slowly and a flower POPS out.
The bud leaves peel away and a fresh new flower appears.

The seed pods crack open to show tiny black eyes.
The seed pod opens its mouth like a snapping pterodactyl.

Remember ...

It is easier to maintain your level of fitness than to start all over again. Keep active in the holidays. Get your heart rate up and sustain the exercise for at least 30 minutes.

You can do it!
